OKLAHOMA MONEY MATTERS

March 2023

Your go-to resource for timely personal finance education, resources and services

Freshman Orientation

Incoming freshmen may experience many challenges upon arrival at your campus: demanding classes, making new friends, and unfamiliar social situations. These challenges may be compounded for students who need to learn how to manage their finances. Making wise financial choices is a game-changer; a student's ability to manage money impacts every aspect of their present and future life.

Oklahoma Money Matters (OKMM) offers free personal finance services that empower students to make positive financial choices. Let us help you put them on a solid financial path. We offer a variety of customizable workshop presentations focused on money management topics, including saving, managing credit, living on a college budget, getting out of debt, understanding and preventing identity theft, and making wise financial aid decisions, including smart student loan borrowing and finding and utilizing gift aid.

Visit OklahomaMoneyMatters.org to request a workshop and to access our interactive money management tools, self-paced learning modules, publications and podcasts. We also offer train-the-trainer workshops to empower campus staff and student leaders to teach these topics to their student body.
